

"Rarely Has The Screen Given Us A Sensitive Love Story Told With Such Delicate Grace." -Los Angeles Herald Examiner

Based on a true story and nominated for eight Academy Awards® including Best Picture, Love Is A Many-Splendored Thing is one of the most "beautiful, absorbing" (Variety) films ever made.

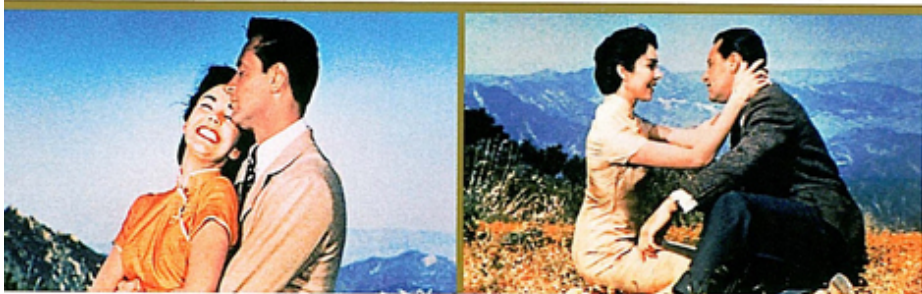

When Eurasian doctor and widow Han Suyin (JONES) and American journalist Mark Elliot meet in Hong Kong, they soon fall in love, despite interracial prejudices and Han's struggle in breaking with tradition. But they face an even greater obstacle to happiness when Elliot is transferred to Korea, where war has broken out. With its "irresistible romantic appeal" (HOLLYWOOD REPORTER), breathtaking cinematography and poignant performances, this timeless classic is a must-own for any collector.

1955, Color, Approx. 102 Minutes.
